Vitamins

The export transaction of vitamins improved last week, for customers place more orders in advance in consideration of the incoming Chinese National holiday. VB1 still no offering, the market is mainly selling old goods, and the transaction has increased slightly. The prices quoted by VB2 manufacturers are relatively wide, and the actual transaction price decline has slowed down and begun to stabilize. The decline of Niacin/Niacinamide/Calcium Pantothenate is at ease, and customers are relatively active in purchasing. The price of D3 is hovering at a low level currently.

Amino Acids

Last week, the domestic quotation of Threonine increased; there were more market inquiries, and factory delivery time is quite tight. However, most export clients are still waiting, and the factory transaction situation is needed to pay attention to. For Valine, Isoleucine, and Arginine, the market delivery time is still tight, but the price remains stable. Factories mainly focus on delivering early orders. The price of Tryptophan is at a high level now, so there have been few orders signed recently. And the end users purchase on demand.

API

The overall API market demand is average, and most terminal traders are waiting. For Doxycycline, some manufacturers are about to resume quotations, and prices have fallen recently; Florfenicol, affected by demand, price competition among factories continues, and prices keep to fall; Tylosin, Tilmicosin, and Oxytetracycline, the price remains stable. The price of Albendazole remains stable this week after rebounding last week.

Food Additives

The food sector as a whole remains stable this week. The price of sweetener series products Sucralose/Aspartame/Acesulfame potassium remains stable; The nutritional fortifier taurine remains stable; The price of Creatine Monohydrate has risen due to the control of raw materials. At present, domestic mainstream manufacturers have stopped quoting and are expected to resume quoting after October 1st. The demand for Xanthan Gum has weakened, and most of the market has inventory. The price remains stable and may decline in the long term. ;Preservative products, Sodium Benzoate/Potassium Sorbate/Citric Acid series has stabilized due to market demand.
