VITAMIN

01

The vitamins market was generally stable this week. VE manufacturers centralized stop quotation, market attention continues to increase, market transaction prices began to rise; For Vitamin B1, Huazhong stop quotation, other factories raise prices, supply is also tight, the market spot inventory is low; Other vitamins are stable in the short term

AMINO ACID

02

This week, the market of small varieties of amino acids is relatively stable, some valine factories rised price, the manufacturer's offer is strong, but the final transaction will be general for the time being, and the transaction can be negotiated; Isoleucine price is at the bottom, the overall market is not positive, later pay attention to the factory order; Arginine end users purchase on demand, factory delivery is relatively tight, and the arginine market is expected to be stable in the short term.

API

03

This week, the veterinary drug raw material market remained weak and stable, and most varieties were still slight decline at a low price level, but the decline was limited by the factory cost. Individual varieties are affected by raw materials, supply and other prices are relatively strong. Overall downstream demand is still weak. Tylosin, Doxycycline, Florfenicol affected by demand prices were still slightly down. Neomycin sulfate, Lincomycin HCL, levamisole HCL, colistin sulfate prices are firmer. Other varieties remain stable. Follow up with continuous attention.

FOOD ADDITIVE

This week, the food plate as a whole maintained stable operation, the price and delivery of sweetener products were stable; The mainstream manufacturers of creatine monohydrate normally ship, some manufacturers have sheeduled the delivery to late May, and the current price of large factories is still stable; Carnitine series of products raised the price of the whole; The prices of preservative products price and deliver remained stable. Some xanthan gum factories stopped quotation, expected subsequent price increases.
