VITAMIN

01

Following recent price increases by Vitamin C producers, market inquiries have become increasingly active, with FOB transaction prices approaching USD 3/KG. As several manufacturers enter scheduled maintenance shutdowns, supply availability is tightening further. Supported by continued buying interest, the market expects additional price increases in the near term. Market participants are closely monitoring operating rates and supply developments among major producers.

AMINO ACID

02

- According to Eppen Biotech's maintenance schedule, its nucleotide production line at the Zhaodong facility will undergo a one-month shutdown beginning in July, leaving limited availability for June orders. Due to tightening supply and rising costs, the company has increased nucleotide quotations by USD 260/MT and will prioritize deliveries to key customers.
- Meanwhile, market sources indicate that NHU's solid methionine plant will enter maintenance in mid-June, followed by its liquid methionine facility in mid-July. Current quotations for liquid methionine have risen to approximately USD 4.7/KG, supported by strong producer pricing sentiment.

API

03

Recently, the environmental approval for Menovo Pharmaceutical Co., Ltd.'s API expansion project was published. Upon completion, the project will add 734 MT of annual API production capacity while enhancing energy efficiency through supporting waste heat recovery and utility facil

FOOD ADDITIVE

04

Recently, Sirio Pharma Co., Ltd. was granted a patent for its three-layer seamless softgel technology. The innovation enhances capsule sealing, stability, and shelf-life performance, representing a significant advancement in softgel applications for nutritional and health products.
