VITAMIN

01

The Vitamin B2 market remains stable, with mainstream transaction prices at USD 9.5–10/KG. Some producers continue to suspend quotations amid weak downstream demand and cautious sentiment. The market lacks clear direction in the short term, with prices expected to fluctuate within a narrow range.

AMINO ACID

02

Threonine export orders remain moderate, with downstream buyers continuing to purchase based on immediate demand. Prices have slightly declined, with mainstream transactions around USD 960–980/MT. The market is expected to remain under mild pressure in the near term.

API

03

- Shijiazhuang Haixin Fine Chemical Co., Ltd. has announced a 3,000 MT annual capacity project for Amoxicillin sodium and related products, with a total investment of USD 22.54 million. The project includes Amoxicillin sodium, Ampicillin sodium, and several intermediates, further expanding its antibiotic production capacity.
- Meanwhile, the Florfenicol market remains adequately supplied, with transactions mainly driven by immediate demand. Current prices are around USD 21.8/KG, and the market is expected to remain stable in the short term.

FOOD ADDITIVE

04

China's National Health Commission has updated the list of terminated reviews for new food ingredients, adding entries such as tuna anserine, Fusarium venetum protein, and banana flower. These items were removed from review due to classification issues, equivalence considerations, or established consumption history. The total number of entries on the list has now reached 102.
