VITAMIN

01

According to market sources, Tianxin Pharmaceutical began its summer maintenance shutdown in early July, with the maintenance expected to last approximately eight weeks. Meanwhile, Wanhua Chemical plans to shut down its Vitamin A production line from July 20 for around two months, while Shandong NHU is scheduled to conduct an approximately eight-week maintenance shutdown at its Vitamin E plant from mid-August to mid-October. With several major producers entering maintenance, the market is closely monitoring future supply conditions.

AMINO ACID

02

- CJ CheilJedang has completed a business restructuring, integrating its feed amino acid businesses, including lysine and tryptophan, into the newly established Core Materials Division to strengthen synergies across its core raw material portfolio.
- In addition, Eppen Biotech announced a two-week annual maintenance shutdown at its Inner Mongolia facility starting in mid-July, covering Lysine HCl 98%, Lysine Sulphate 70%, and Threonine production lines. Customers are advised to plan inventories accordingly.

API

03

The Enrofloxacin market remains stable, although overall demand has softened slightly compared with the second quarter. Bulk transactions are currently quoted at approximately USD 20.5–21.8/KG, with market participants continuing to monitor raw material costs and downstream demand.

FOOD ADDITIVE

04

Recently, Ningxia Zhongke Biotechnology announced that its joint venture, Ningxia Hetan Zhongke Zhiyuan Biotechnology Co., Ltd., established together with Qingdao Hetan Chuangwu Technology Co., Ltd. and Hainan Haizhiyuan Life Technology Co., Ltd., has officially completed business registration and obtained its business license, with a registered capital of USD 2.99 million. The establishment of the joint venture marks the official launch of Ningxia Zhongke Biotechnology's strategic expansion into the algal oil fatty acid sector, further strengthening its presence in the functional bio-ingredients market.
