VITAMIN I Vitamin E

Affected by the sudden production accident of DSM's Swiss factory, the VE market attention has increased rapidly, since February 6, the number of enquiries in domestic and foreign markets has increased significantly, and the transaction activity has also increased significantly.

According to market news feedback, on February 6, NHU has taken the lead in adjusting the domestic offer of feed-grade VE. Several mainstream domestic VE manufacturers have also formed the corresponding price expectations. In the export market, the unified line of the signing price is USD18/KG, and may reach USD20/KG in the future.

AMINO ACID I Valine

02

After the Spring Festival holiday, there are fewer single phase pairs actually signed by domestic terminals, and the market offer is stable to USD1.9-1.97/kg. Downstream users' replenishing sentiment is relatively weak, and they are concerned about factory shipments and transactions, so the valine price is expected to run smoothly.

Recently, Huakang Stock issued an announcement on the construction progress of "1 million tons of corn deep processing healthy food ingredients project". Up to now, the crystalline sorbitol production line planned for the first stage of the project has been officially put into operation, with a design capacity of 50,000 tons/year. After the production line is put into operation, it will further enhance the company's production capacity of crystalline sorbitol, help to increase market share, consolidate Huakang's leading position in the sugar alcohol industry, and enhance sustainable profitability.
