VITAMIN 01

The vitamin market remained generally weak last week. However, Vitamin C and Nicotinamide producers raised quotations, with trading activity improving. Some Vitamin A producers suspended quotations, while market activity remained subdued. Other B vitamins continued to edge down slightly or consolidate near bottom levels.

AMINO ACID 02

- Lysine producer quotations remained stable at USD 840–860/MT, but downstream demand and restocking activity were weak. Trading was moderate, and prices are expected to remain stable to weak. In contrast, Threonine producer quotations edged up to USD 920–940/MT, with tight producer availability and orders scheduled for delivery. Prices are expected to remain firm in the short term.
- On October 29, 2026, the European Commission released a disclosure document, announcing that it would conduct an "amendment review" of the anti-dumping measures on China's lysine imports and proposed to significantly increase the tariffs. The review found that after the original investigation period, the export prices from China had significantly decreased, weakening the effectiveness of the anti-dumping measures.

API 03

The veterinary API market remained broadly stable last week, although some products showed signs of recovery. Florfenicol and Amoxicillin prices moved higher amid firm producer quotations, while Doxycycline HCl producers raised prices and restricted new orders, tightening spot availability. Colistin Sulfate deliveries remained tight. Tylosin Tartrate and Tilmicosin Phosphate held near bottom levels, while Oxytetracycline HCl, Enrofloxacin and Ciprofloxacin remained weak. Market participants will continue to monitor producer activity and supply changes during the upcoming API exhibition.

FOOD ADDITIVE 04

Sucralose transaction prices stabilized at USD 12.87–13.00/kg, with near-term prices expected to remain steady. Creatine Monohydrate traded at approximately USD 3.00–3.35/kg, with some producers facing raw material cost pressures and delivery schedules extending into November. L-Carnitine quotations from major producers remained around USD 24.80–26.00/kg, while transaction prices continued to rise. The market is expected to stabilize in the near term.
