VITAMIN 01

Vitamin B6 producers' mainstream contract quotations stood at around USD 12.8/kg. Downstream buyers continued to purchase based on immediate needs, while new orders at higher prices remained limited. Trading-channel prices stayed weak and range-bound, with producers generally operating at a loss. The market is expected to remain stable in the short term.

AMINO ACID 02

Methionine producers' FCA quotations stood at around USD 3.5, while market transaction around USD3.4/KG. Feed manufacturers continued to purchase based on immediate demand, leaving the market caught between bullish and bearish factors. Neither a significant upward nor downward price movement is expected in the short term.

API 03

- Major Florfenicol producers suspended quotations, while market transaction prices continued to edge higher amid limited low-priced supplies. Trading-channel interest remained strong, although end users maintained essential-demand purchasing. Prices stood at around USD 23.46/kg and are expected to remain stable to firm in the near term.
- Tianjin Tianyao Pharmaceuticals received NMPA approval for its Histidine API marketing application. The company already had 25 approved amino acid APIs in China, and this latest approval further expands and strengthens its amino acid product portfolio.

FOOD ADDITIVE 04

China's new Measures for the Supervision and Administration of Food Contract Manufacturing will take effect on December 1, 2026, introducing the country's first dedicated departmental regulations for outsourced food production. The rules clarify that brand owners remain responsible for food safety and must supervise contract manufacturers. Private-label production, customized manufacturing and retailer-owned brands are all covered, with reporting obligations imposed on both parties. Solid beverages and tablet candies are among the key sectors targeted for stricter oversight, raising compliance requirements for dietary supplements and contract manufacturing businesses.
